ALDI-GETHER NOW!

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A NEW ALDI store in The Stow could open as soon as next year after the German retailer submitted a revised planning application to Harlow Council this week.

The budget supermarket chain tweaked its blueprints for the new food store on the former Charvills garage site after considering feedback from local residents, removing plans for 14 residential flats and enhancing parking provision.

The Which? Award-winning firm dropped leaflets outlining the proposals to more than 700 addresses in the area and claimed to have received an overwhelmingly positive response, with 95 per cent of respondents backing the plans.

According to an ALDI spokesperson, many residents said they welcomed the competition the store would provide for large out-of-town supermarkets and were excited at the prospect of having a dedicated food store on their doorstep.

A total of 97 per cent of respondents said they wanted to see the 'eyesore' site regenerated as soon as possible, while 98 per cent agreed the new store would bring further employment and investment to

The Stow.

The responses were fed into the revised planning application, which includes plans for the provision of a large shared car park that will also be available to shoppers visiting other businesses in The Stow.

The site already had planning permission for an ALDI with 14 flats above, but the residential element has now been dropped from the blueprints after being deemed "financially unviable".

ALDI property director Roland Stanley said the firm had been "very encouraged" with the overwhelming public interest in the proposals.

"We are proud and fully committed to making this significant investment at The Stow," he said.

"I would like to thank everyone who took the time to give feedback – all comments have been considered as part of the application.

"It is clear that not only are people fed up with having to travel away from The Stow, but that many people also find this difficult and inconvenient, especially the elderly.

He added that subject to the revised application being approved, the new store could open by 2013.

"We are receiving numerous calls asking when the store will open and I can assure everyone that we are working as quickly as we can to make sure that is sooner rather than later," he said.

"We have to follow due process, and submitting the application is the first step in that direction."

Toodbrook by-election as councillor is off to Spain

A BY-ELECTION will be held in the Toodbrook ward next month following the resignation of Labour councillor Bob Davis.

Mr Davis stepped down from his role last month after deciding to emigrate to Spain with his wife.

The poll for his replacement will be held on November 15 – the same day as countywide elections for the new Essex Police & Crime Commissioner.

Speaking to the Star this week, council and Labour group leader Mark Wilkinson thanked Mr Davis for his contribution as a councillor.

"Bob was a passionate, hard-working councillor and we wish him well in his new life in Spain – he will be sorely missed by both the Labour group and his constituents," he said.

"He could have emigrated without stepping down, but both he and the Labour group felt it would be completely inappropriate for him to continue receiving an allowance for his duties despite no longer living in the country.

"This is why we have called a by-election at the earliest opportunity, and holding the vote on the same day as the Police & Crime Commissioner poll means costs will be kept to an absolute minimum."

Schoolboys' mobiles stolen at knifepoint

DETECTIVES are appealing for witnesses after two schoolboys were threatened and robbed by a knife-wielding teen.

The attack happened in the Southern Way underpass linking The Fairway with Little Pynchons at 9am on Tuesday, October 9.

The 13- and 14-year-old victims were walking to school when they were approached by a teenage boy, who threatened the pair with a knife before stealing their mobile phones.

Investigating officer DC Liz Young said: "These two schoolboys were dressed in black so may have caught the attention of passing motorists or pedestrians.

"From our enquiries so far and in the manner the robbery was played out, the attacker may know his victims.

"As well as witnesses to the robbery, we're also keen to hear from a man who was walking his dog in the vicinity at the time."

The assailant is described as white, aged in his mid-teens and with dark-brown hair swept to the side. He has blue eyes, one of which looked inwards.

At the time he was wearing a light-grey hooded top, light-grey tracksuit bottoms and black gloves, and made his getaway on a silver mountain bike.

Anyone with information in connection with the robbery is urged to contact detectives at Harlow police station on 101.

Cash boost for troubled market

HARLOW'S ailing market is set for a £10,000 facelift after receiving an unexpected funding boost.

The town was one of 392 unsuccessful applicants to miss out on regeneration cash as part of a scheme spearheaded by retail guru Mary Portas. But despite not becoming a so-called 'Portas Pilot', Harlow will receive a 'consolation prize' of £10,000.

OAP's two-hour wait for medics after hip break

AGONISING WAIT: Jean Vandersteen, who broke her hip after tripping on a parking sensor

AN elderly woman was forced to wait more than two hours for an ambulance after falling and breaking her hip in a Harlow car park.

Jean Vandersteen (74), of Bushey Croft, tripped on a raised parking sensor in The Water Gardens as she searched for a shopping trolley on Friday lunchtime.

Shoppers who witnessed the accident immediately called for an ambulance – but the pensioner was left lying in agony for over an hour before a first response vehicle turned up.

She then had to wait another hour for an ambulance to arrive and take her to Princess Alexandra Hospital for emergency surgery on her fractured hip.

Daughter Lorraine Rodgers, of Sylvesters, said she was "disgusted" by the ambulance response time.

"My mum was left lying on the floor in absolute agony for over two hours while she waited for an ambulance," she told the Star.

"I'm absolutely disgusted -

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

the hospital is less than a mile away from where she fell, but she was forced to wait hours before she was even given pain relief."

She added: "This has been a terrible ordeal for her – she never expected a trip to the shops to land her in hospital."

An East of England Ambulance Service spokesman told the Star the emergency call had been classed as "serious but not life-threatening" – but admitted that the required 20-minute response time target had been missed.

"We do our very best to get to patients within the appropriate timeframe, but sometimes this is a challenge if we're very busy elsewhere with more serious cases such as cardiac arrests, strokes and unconsciousness," he said.

"However, the Trust is currently planning resources better to fit in with where and when demand lies in an effort to improve response times."

Jean said she had now made a formal complaint to the ambulance service over the delay – and also blasted The Water Gardens for installing the "dangerous" raised sensors in its car park.

"These sensors are a danger to anyone walking through the car park – especially older people who are not so steady on their feet," she added.

"My mum's not the first to trip and injure themselves on these ridiculous things and unless they're removed she won't be the last."

But speaking to the Star on Tuesday, Water Gardens manager Beryl Murphy said a decision had already been taken to rip out the raised sensors and replace them with slimline devices after the complex received a string of complaints from concerned customers.

"We have received several reports of shoppers tripping over the sensors and have told the contractor who installed them to remove and replace the devices immediately," she said.

"We have consulted with the Health & Safety Executive over the changes and hopefully this accident will be the last."

EIGHTEEN months of training is finally being put to the test after a Harlow woman set off on an epic Asia cycling adventure.

Sarah Carless (41), of Whitewaites, flew off to Ho Chi Minh City in Vietnam on Saturday morning for the start of a 500-mile eight-day bike ride which will finish at the Angkor Wat temple complex in Cambodia.

Sarah will be taking on the challenge with former Milwards Primary School work colleague Vashti Hodge (47). The pair hope to raise more than £7,000 for Breakthrough Breast Cancer and the British Heart Foundation.

"I did a similar thing in India a few years back but it has been nice to have something to work towards again," said Sarah, who works as a learning mentor.

"It has taken a lot of training and it has also been very demanding to keep our fundraising on track, but we seem to be on target.

"For months we have been dressing up as nurses and going around pubs at the weekend with a collection bucket. It has been brilliant and we want to say a huge thank-you to the many generous punters in Harlow, and the publicans and council for letting us carry out the collections."

Sarah said they had chosen causes close to their hearts to help drive them on during the painful miles.

"I have a very close friend who I am thrilled to say is a breast cancer survivor, whilst Vashti was born with a hole in her heart and needed treatment as a child," she explained.

"Both charities do fantastic work funding the research that continues to ensure there are more happy endings to these stories and less heartache."

The pair, who are just £1,000 short of their fundraising target, have also topped up funds by asking people to fill up Smartie tubes with coins, running stalls at boot fairs and holding events like Aloe Vera parties.

"We will be cycling around eight hours a day to cover up to 95 kilometres in extreme heat and rocky terrain," added Sarah. "It will be really tough but also an amazing adventure. It'll be completely worth it if it means achieving our final fundraising total."

Charity in search of volunteers for obstacle course

FITNESS fanatics are being challenged to tackle an eight-mile cross-country obstacle race to help vulnerable people maintain their independence.

Harlow-based charity Motability ensures disabled people remain mobile by organising specially adapted cars, scooters and powered wheelchairs.

The group are looking for eager runners to fill their allocation of places for the Lactic Fallout challenge at the Secret Nuclear Bunker in Kelvedon Hatch, which aims to test the endurance of even the fittest of participants.

"The event tests strength, pace and stamina – and it is also a lot of fun," said charity spokesperson Gail Rossiter.

"We're looking for people to sign up on behalf of Motability and raise a minimum of £150 in sponsorship. We give a lot of support and advice in return and, of course, they would also be helping some of the most disadvantaged disabled members in our community."

For more details contact Aine Canavan on (01279) 632258.

Club's quiz night raises over £300

A HARLOW support network used brain power to raise more than £300 at a charity quiz night.

The Harlow and Epping Forest Breathe Easy Club were also presented with the Breath of Fresh Air Award by the British Lung Foundation in recognition of its work supporting people in the community affected by lung conditions.

"It was a very successful night and we would like to thank everyone who came along with a special thanks to those who donated raffle prizes," said group secretary Barbara Moore.

"We would also like to put out a reminder that we meet the first Tuesday of every month at Purford Green Community Hall from 2pm and anyone with respiratory problems or their friends or carers are more than welcome to join us."

For more information about the Harlow and Epping Forest Breathe Easy Club call Pauline Love on (01279) 429195.

Hospice lottery

THE winner of the £1,000 prize in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, October 5 is ticket holder 890982, who lives in Harlow.

The second prize of £100 goes to ticket 253043, held in Epping.

Sports centre's 'practical skills' course success

A HARLOW sports centre showed off its extra-curricular activities providing 'alternative education' for those struggling at school during a visit from MP Robert Halfon.

Paringdon Sports Club, based off Paringdon Road, started offering the courses in partnership with TNT Alternative Education shortly after opening last June.

The programme aims to help young people no longer in mainstream education to continue developing their practical skills and knowledge for the next step in life.

"We cover all topics to do with health and fitness, look at the biology involved when the body is exercising and also teach practical skills such as how to run a sports centre," said fitness manager Liz O'Hare.

"The response has been fantastic and we have seen a real change in our kids since they started in September. Plus, they will now all go away with one more qualification under their belt."

Mr Halfon said he "fully supported" the alternative education programme.

"Paringdon is an outstanding club, not just because of the amazing facilities on offer, but because of its work with younger people and close links with Harlow College," he told the Star. "Through TNT, Paringdon is transforming the lives of young people, - often with some tough backgrounds - and giving them a chance to achieve all kinds of qualifications."

New cinema to become a reel-ality . . .

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A SIX-screen cinema is set to take pride of place in Harlow town centre after contracts were exchanged with a major UK operator this week.

As part of large-scale refurbishment plans for the Harvey Centre, spearheaded by new owners Addington Capital, nationwide cinema operator Cineworld has confirmed it will be building a new multi-screen complex on the shopping mall's first floor.

The cinema will be the focal point of a 20,000 sq ft leisure multiplex which will double the width of the upstairs mall to host up to six high-street restaurant and coffee chains in a conjoining food court.

Natural lighting will also be introduced to brighten up the ageing centre, which was built in the 1980s.

Partner at Addington Capital, Alex Wagstaff, said the group were "delighted" with their new letting.

"The new cinema will act as a catalyst to the regeneration of the Harvey Centre and benefit the town centre as a whole with longer trading hours and dwell times for town centre shoppers," he said.

"We're also confident Cineworld will attract the national restaurant chains currently under-represented in the town."

Deputy leader of Harlow Council, Jean Clark, said the new town centre cinema would be a "great boost" to Harlow.

"It will add to the range of leisure activities on offer and will help to bring life to the town centre, particularly in the evenings," she told the Star.

"By securing a national cinema operator, we have yet again demonstrated that Harlow is a great place to invest.

The new cinema will provide jobs for local people, as well as increased trading opportunities for retailers in the town."

Work on the £9 million development is due to start early next year, with Cineworld expected to screen its first film in late 2014.

However, it remains unclear what the plans mean for the future of the existing Cineworld cinema based in the Queensgate Centre off Edinburgh Way, which itself has only recently undergone a major refurbishment.

A spokesperson from the company told the Star they were unable to give any further information at this stage.

Man denies stabbing woman, 22

A 32-YEAR-OLD Harlow man accused of stabbing a young woman as she pushed her daughter's buggy along a Harlow street has pleaded not guilty to wounding with intent to cause grievous bodily harm.

Landscape gardener Sean

McLaughlin, of Spring Hills, also stands accused of causing criminal damage to a door at alleged victim Stephanie Messenger's house in Moorfield, Harlow. Appearing at Chelmsford Crown Court on Monday, he denied attacking the 22-year-old in Abercrombie Way on July 28 this year. He was remanded in custody pending the start of a trial on January 28 next year.

Miss Messenger is said to have suffered a cut chin requiring six stitches, cuts to her arm and a stomach wound.

CAN you match up these former Brays Grove School pupils with their 11-year-old selves?

More than 20 pupils from the class of 1962 spent an evening catching up, swapping photographs and reminiscing about the good old days when they celebrated the 50th anniversary of their first year at the secondary school.

The reunion was the second time the group - who were all members of Class 1.2 - have met up since hanging up their uniforms.

"Some of the group had not seen each other for more than 40 years," said organiser Martin Scott, who now lives in Germany. "It was by no means an easy task to track so many down in spite of modern communication technologies, internet search engines and social professional networking websites.

"However, with the help of a small group of initial contacts made earlier this year, we eventually managed to contact around 35 school friends - and 23 answered the call to meet up once again for some long overdue anecdotes and reminiscences!

"We also asked people to bring along artefacts, souvenirs and photos to place on memory boards which proved to be very successful and great talking points. Text books, note books, some examination papers, lots of photos, school ties, prefects' badges and even one or two end of year reports ended up appearing."

According to Martin, the full class consisted of around 35 students, all of whom had passed their 11+ examinations.

"Many of us had come from Potter Street Junior School but quite a few had also come from other schools in the catchment area such as Purford Green, Pear Tree Mead, William Martin and even the Spinney and Epping junior schools," he said.

"The class was further split into 1.1 and 1.2 after the first term in the winter of 1963.

"When we left in 1966 at 16, 1967

after O-levels or 1969 after A-levels, Brays Grove was still a very successful school, at least according to our academic results and life achievements."

He added: "A very memorable and enjoyable evening was had by all who attended and we would certainly like to arrange another reunion in the not too distant future. If any other ex-Brays Grove pupils who started in 1962, or ex-teachers, would like to join us at the next reunion, please do get in touch."

Did you know scientist Alec?

AN appeal for information has been made ahead of the unveiling of a new blue plaque in the Water Gardens.

The plaque, commissioned by Harlow Civic Society, will acknowledge the work carried out by scientist Alec Reeves, who has been dubbed the father of the digital age.

He was part of the team headed by Sir Charles Kao which was credited with the discovery of fibre optic communication while working at Standard Telecommunications Laboratories in London Road.

"There is extensive information on Alec Reeves's professional life but few references to him as an exemplary and pioneer citizen of Harlow," said civic society member

Howard Chan. "We were hoping an appeal in Nostalgia will bring more information so hopefully we can learn some more."

Born in Redhill Surrey in 1902, Mr Reeves was awarded the Franklin Institute's Stuart Ballantine Medal for his work in 1965. He was later made a CBE. He died in 1972 at the age of 70.

"We know he lived in Tany's Dell and had some association with the Scouting movement," said Mr Chan, "and that he was known as a kindly man who helped others.

"It would be good if some personal, informal images or memories turned up."

Cat is dunked in tar and dumped

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

A PREGNANT cat left to wander the streets after apparently being dunked in a vat of hot tar is making a remarkable recovery after its life was saved by a Harlow pet grooming parlour.

The distressed moggie – which is just two weeks off giving birth – was found in Nazeing last Wednesday by a local resident and rushed to the Companion Care veterinary practice in Harlow.

Unable to help, vets advised the woman – who did not want to be named – to take the cat to Mr Groom in Colt Hatch, where owner Linda Forsyth and staff set to work carefully removing the tar from its fur using heavy-duty cleaner Swarfega.

"I couldn't believe the state of the poor thing when it was brought in to us," Linda told the Star.

"The tar had solidified on its body and it could barely move – it was just mewling in pain and distress."

After several hours of painstaking work, most of the tar had been removed, although the toxic substance had burnt areas of the cat's skin and caused clumps of its fur to fall off.

"We've been in business for over 30 years now and I've never seen anything like it," Linda added.

Linda said the cat was now recovering well from its ordeal.

"The lady who brought it in to us has told us she used butter to remove the last bits of the tar from its body and that the cat now seems to be on the mend."

"Whoever did this to the poor thing deserves to have it done to them – I can't understand how anyone could be so cruel."

Woman threatened by man with gun at home

AN elderly woman has been left shaken but unhurt after being threatened by an armed burglar in her own home.

Police were called to the property in Broadfield just after 9.35pm on Monday, following reports a man had broken in and stolen cash and jewellery.

According to the elderly occupant, the burglar had a gun with a light-coloured wooden handle in his possession, although he did not threaten to use it.

The suspect is described as being aged in his 20s and was dressed all in black, wearing a black, zip-up jacket with a hood and an opaque stocking-style mask over his face. He is believed to be white, around 6ft tall and of slim build.

He also wore dark-coloured gloves.

Anyone with information is urged to contact officers at the Harlow serious crime team on 101 or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

New technical college will see Harlow lead the way

SIR, I was fascinated to read the Harlow Star piece (September 20) about our town's old technical college. It has been a failure of successive governments – of all political colours – that technical schools were allowed to "wither on the vine".

We now need a real focus on vocational jobs, to help young people on the road to become apprentices.

The problem was that technical colleges – however unfairly – became seen as a supposedly "less gifted" option. Even if this was not true in reality.

That is why I strongly welcome the Conservative-led Government's reforms, which are creating a new wave of 'University Technical Colleges' across the country. Harlow will be at the forefront of this revolution.

After a two-year campaign and much work, a new 'University Technical College' will now open on the Harlow College campus in 2014.

Along with our Enterprise Zone and bio-tech investment, it will be backed by Harlow College and Anglia Ruskin University, and enjoy the backing of top industry sponsors such as Princess Alexandra Hospital, Pearson UK, Raytheon, GlaxoSmithKline (GSK), and global engineering giant, Johnson Controls.

It will offer Harlow youngsters a state of the art education, including A-levels in Maths and English, technical training and a conveyor belt to high-tech jobs.

There will be no selection criteria, other than being from Harlow and the surrounding area.

This new 'UTC' will combine the best of the old system, but with modern standards.

As one of the first in the country, it will have considerable prestige, and will offer Harlow young people (aged 14 to 19) a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to train in fields such as biotech, medicine, and engineering. These will be the well-paid jobs of the future.

Hopefully also, it will also go some way to helping our young people back into work.

Photo of the week

THIS dramatic landscape was photographed by reader Kevin Green at the lake just off Tilegate Road in High Laver.

"Whilst out walking the weather changed very quickly and clouds covered the afternoon sky," writes Kevin, of Arkwrights, Harlow. "The reflection of the clouds on the lake prompted me to capture the moment in this very dramatic shot."

Do you have a photograph taken in Harlow that you think is good enough to feature in the Photo of the Week section? If so, we would love to see it.

Email a high resolution copy in jpeg format along with a brief description of your photograph, when and where it was taken and your name and address to star@hertsessexnews.co.uk. Please insert 'Photo of the Week' in the subject line of your email.

MP's jobs fair 'sticking plaster' is laughable

SIR, I read with disbelief Robert Halfon's column in the Star headlined "Jobs fair will help get Harlow back to work". I don't think so.

With unemployment rising due to his party's policy of cuts to the public sector and hundreds of billions of pounds sitting idle that could be spent on a programme of building social housing which would get people back in sustainable jobs, his sticking plaster ideas are frankly laughable.

Not so long ago Harlow youth services offered daily practical job focused support to the town's unemployed. Why isn't he fighting to reinstate these essential services?

On a similar theme, whilst I have every sympathy for the residents affected by anti-social behaviour in the 'Black Run', closing the path simply won't solve the problem. It will just cause disruption to pedestrians and move the problem on.

Why not engage youth outreach workers and make use of the community police teams? Because Mr Halfon's government has axed youth and community services and is about to impose a further 20 per cent cut to the police budget.

Cuts to services are already impacting on the quality of life for Harlow residents, I urge everyone to fight back.

David Brown (TUSC Against Cuts)

Threat to last week's landscape

SIR, The photo of the week taken by Jason Thirley (Star, September 27) says more than 1,000 words about Harlow. It captures Sir Frederick Gibberd's vision, the countryside coming into the town, perfectly captured.

But I wonder if readers realise that this wonderful scene is under threat from development? Not housing but still a considerable change in the landscape. Harlow Rugby Club has its eyes on this site and, I understand, has some form of agreement to move there when the time is right.

Whilst this might seem a fairly innocuous proposal, it would mean considerable changes to the landscape; rugby players like level playing fields, which this site is not. Would they want floodlights? Probably.

Would a high fence be needed along the Second Avenue boundary to keep the balls in play? Maybe.

In view of the fact that the former Passmore School site is now available and has numerous pitches, it would seem to me to be a more appropriate location for the rugby club.

There would be room for a clubhouse and some residential development as well.

Leave Latton Farm as Gibberd intended.

John Curry
Old Orchard, Harlow

Keep horses tethered away from the roads

SIR, As a regular walker and cyclist along Commons Road, I am going to make a suggestion to the horse brigade and that is to keep your horses away from footpaths.

Many a time I have been walking or riding my bike to find horses on the loose or tethered near to the road.

The chains the horses are tethered with invariably end up across the road, posing a menace and danger to the public.

The owners of these horses should be held to account by the council and, in some cases, the police.

The reason the owners of these horses tether most of them near the road is ease of feeding and watering.

However, I believe all these horses should be at least 100 yards from the road and definitely well away from any footpaths.

We all deserve to have basic human rights

SIR, The Sunday papers have been full of reports of unacceptable and unnecessary assaults on community and national essential services.

The country needs the Army and every town should have a well-equipped and fully staffed hospital open all the time.

This is what money is for. We are stuck with the rich leaving the majority less well off.

However, this does not give our decision-makers, many of who seem to come from the privileged minority, the moral responsibility to dictate the terms of our lives.

They have a moral obligation to see that we are all right.

That is what the electorate elected them for.

We don't all want the same things, but we do have the same human rights.

'Biggest-ever' jobs fair free to jobseekers

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

JOBSEEKERS in Harlow will be offered expert advice on kick-starting their careers and finding employment at the town's biggest-ever recruitment event.

More than 100 organisations have agreed to share their knowledge, check CVs and look for new recruits at the Harlow Jobs Fair, which is being organised by local MP Rob Halfon.

The free-to-attend event, which takes place at Harlow Leisurezone on Friday, October 26, aims to connect those living locally and looking for work with companies looking to fill job vacancies.

"We are hoping all active Harlow jobseekers will come to this exciting event, not only to find employment, but also to attend the informative and interesting seminars that will be on offer throughout the day," Mr Halfon told the Star.

ROBERT HALFON MP

"There will also be opportunities to gain work experience and training with companies looking to help people get onto the job ladder, and tips and advice regarding CV and interview technique."

The day-long event, which starts at 10.30am and finishes at 3.30pm, is being run in conjunction with Harlow Chamber of Commerce, Harlow College and Harlow Jobcentre.

Employers taking part include Monster Recruitment, Barclays Bank, Smiths Engineering, Princess Alexandra Hospital and the Army and Navy. Each organisation will have their own exhibition stand with representatives on hand all day to answer questions.

"It is fantastic that 2012 has already seen more than 500 local residents finding employment," added Mr Halfon.

"I welcome this progress in getting Harlow people back into work, but much more needs to be done which is why I have organised the Jobs Fair.

"We are looking forward to seeing as many people there as possible and hope together we can make it a great success."

in partnership with the PAH NHS Trust

What every woman - and man - should know about breast cancer

It's Breast Cancer Awareness Month and with 1 in 10 women in the UK suffering from the disease, it's even more important to be on the lookout for early signs.

Throughout October, women across the county are being reminded to check their breasts regularly and report any concerns to their GP without delay.

Breast cancer is the most common cancer among women.

Janet Skeys, Breast Service Manager at Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust says: "Through breast screening, we diagnose around 80 cases of breast cancer each year. These are cases where the women did not even know they had a problem.

"We pick up any signs of cancer early, which means any treatment given is much more effective.

"Catching cancer early can be a life-saver, and surprisingly men can develop it too. So we recommend that everyone checks their breasts and chests regularly."

Regular self checking is important. Know what's normal for you. Remember that breast changes don't usually come with other physical symptoms. So if in doubt, check it out with your GP.

Some women have cysts or thickening of the breast tissue. Breast appearance and feel can change at different times of the menstrual cycle and the body naturally changes over the years. All of this is normal.

However, please see your GP if you notice any of the following:

☐ changes in the outline or shape of the breast, especially those caused by arm movements or by lifting the breast;

☐ changes in the look or feel of the skin, such as puckering or dimpling;

☐ discomfort or pain in one breast that is unusual, particularly if it is new and persistent;

☐ any new lumps, thickening or bumpy areas in one breast or armpit, which differs from the same part of the other breast and armpit;

☐ nipple discharge that's new for you and not milky;

☐ bleeding from the nipple;

☐ moist, red areas on the nipple that don't heal easily;

☐ any change in nipple position, such as pulled up or pointing differently;

☐ a rash on or around the nipple.

How do I check my breasts?

There's no right or wrong way to check your breasts, but it's important to check all parts including your armpits and up to your collarbone on a regular basis.

Get screened

Currently all women between 50 and 70 are invited for breast screening every three years as part of the NHS Breast Screening Programme (NHSBSP). There are plans to extend this range.

Women under 50 are not invited for routine breast screening since the number of women who develop breast cancer is much lower in this age group.

If you think you need a screen then please visit your GP.

ABBOTSWELD PRIMARY Staff are celebrating after the school received a positive Ofsted report. Inspectors who visited the Partridge Road primary noted that improvements had been made across the board since last year's inspection.

Their report stated that "progress across the school is good, especially in Key Stage 2 where pupils make particularly good process."

The behaviour of the children and improvements made by the managers, teachers and governing body were also praised, as was the school environment.

Assistant headteacher and Key Stage 2 co-ordinator Charmaine Ward said: "We feel absolutely elated. A 'good' rating is no small feat in the current climate of Ofsted reports."

"We try and focus on every aspect of the child, their excellent work and progression. This is an accumulation of years of hard work finally paying off."

"We are thrilled at our achievement, as are our parents, governors, staff and students."

KIDDI CARU Youngsters at the Church Langley nursery showed their support for the Jeans for Genes charity appeal by wearing their best denim on Friday.

All the children and staff took part in the fundraiser in aid of Genetic Disorders UK, which aims to improve and change the lives of children with genetic disorders.

The nursery supports the charity and this time the older children were given more of an insight into the fundraising with explanations of the charity's work and the significance of the fundraising day.

Nursery manager Kelly Walker-Reid said: "We never know when we will have a child with a genetic disorder and we feel it's good to support such a cause."

"We should hopefully make just over £100 with everything that we did. Although all the children have fun every day, this was a bit more fun and special for everyone."

LEVENTHORPE Students at the Sawbridgeworth school are taking the plunge by swimming the distance of the English Channel.

Students and staff are swimming the equivalent of the 22-mile crossing - equal to 1,416 lengths - in 12 weeks to complete the challenge by Christmas.

The initiative has been organised by PE teacher and dedicated swimmer Hayley Chancellor.

"It's a great challenge for all students as everyone can take part regardless of ability," she said. "The lengths they complete will be recorded in individual books to be added to the total."

Among those taking part is Year 12 student Jack Alexander, who is undertaking a solo swim rather than being included in the team effort. Every Thursday lunchtime, he has been swimming 120 lengths to stay on target.

The students are raising money for Aspire, a charity specialising in giving after care and specialised support to people with spinal injuries.

Tickets to cinema release of Led Zeppelin in concert

IT'S been a long time since we rock and rolled. Almost five years if you're counting.

Led Zeppelin were the greatest rock 'n' roll band in the world. At the height of their fame they sold millions of records and played sold out concerts around the globe.

But following the death of drummer John Bonham in September 1980 the three remaining members of the band – Robert Plant, Jimmy Page and John Paul Jones – decided to call it a day.

Apart for an ill-fated reunion for the US half of Live Aid in 1985, they were never to play live again. Until 2007.

On December 10 of that year Led Zeppelin took the stage at London's O2 Arena to headline a tribute concert for friend and Atlantic Records founder Ahmet Ertegun. What followed was a two-hour tour de force of the band's signature blues-infused

Some 20 million people applied for tickets but only 18,000 were lucky enough to witness the show.

Now, five years later, the performance is to be screened at cinemas up and down the country prior to its release on multiple video and audio formats in November. And this week we are giving you the chance to win one of five pairs of tickets to the screening of the film – Celebration Day – at Harlow Cineworld on Wednesday, October 17.

To take part, all you have to do is answer this question:

On which of Led Zeppelin's studio albums did the track Kashmir first appear?

To enter, visit our website at www.harlowstar.co.uk and click on the Competitions link under the 'Newspaper' tab. Be sure to enter 'Star Led Zeppelin' in the competition line or your entry will be discounted.

The closing date for entries is noon on Monday, October 15.

rock 'n' roll.

Plant, Page and Jones were joined by Jason Bonham – son of John – to perform 16 songs from their celebrated canon of classic rock, including Whole Lotta Love, Rock And Roll, Kashmir and, of course, Stairway To Heaven.

TICKETS have just gone on sale for the new Royal Opera House live cinema season.

Nine fantastic productions will be broadcast throughout the year by satellite from the Royal Opera House in Covent Garden to participating cinemas around the country.

Highlights from the season include Plácido Domingo in Nabucco, Christopher Wheeldon's brilliantly imaginative new ballet Alice's Adventures in Wonderland and Rolando Villazón taking the lead role in La bohème. And of course Christmas wouldn't be Christmas without the magic of The Nutcracker.

November sees a particularly exciting treat – Berlioz's monumental opera Les Troyens featuring a world-class cast conducted by Antonio Pappano. This is opera at its most epic.

This week we are giving you the chance to win a pair of cinema tickets to the production of your choice.

To take part, all you have to do is answer this question:

Which famous composer wrote the music for the well-known ballet The Nutcracker?

To enter, visit our website at

A natural disaster

ONE of the world's most breathtaking natural wonders is in danger of disappearing forever. New research suggests the Great Barrier Reef, a sprawling coral reef system stretching some 1,600 miles along Australia's north-eastern coastline, is rapidly being destroyed.

More than half of the reef has disappeared over the past 27 years and scientists from the Australian Institute of Marine Science believe a mixture of severe storms, rising sea temperatures and a spike in the population of coral-eating starfish is to blame.

Although coral can recover from damage, it can take up to 20 years to get back to full health.

It is feared that unless action is taken now to protect the reef, it could have disappeared completely by 2050. As a result, the research team want to try to reduce the numbers of starfish which are thought to be responsible for almost half of the total damage.

The Australian government has backed the plans, admitting it was partly responsible for the deterioration of the reef by failing to address the problem earlier. The environment minister told reporters: "I reckon the scientists' report would have sent shockwaves through a whole lot of households."

"We've all heard about damage to the reef over the years but that 50 per cent figure, I think, rang a warning bell loud and clear for many people."

Elephant art an expression of unspoken emotions

A MOVING exhibition exploring the memories and emotions of patients at St Clare Hospice is now on display at the Gibberd Gallery.

Featuring mixed media works by patients at the Hastingswood hospice, Being Me aims to highlight the benefits of using creative therapies to help patients come to terms with their illnesses.

Elizabeth Palfreman, director of fundraising and marketing at St Clare's, explained: "For many patients, talking about themselves can be difficult but through the medium of art words start to flow and this helps many come to terms with their illness."

The exhibition includes a display of 'memory elephants' crafted by patients who have shared their life experiences as they modelled the animals.

Occupational therapist Jane Iskander said: "By using the medium of art we encourage patients to share their experiences and memories and these little models have often started conversations too personal for people to share before."

The exhibition runs at The Gibberd Gallery in the Civic Centre until October 25. Admission is free and the gallery is open from 9am-4.45pm on weekdays.

Tasha hoping to be a write inspiration

By CHRIS MOSS

A 16-YEAR-OLD playwright is set to unveil her first play at Victoria Hall tomorrow (Friday) – and hopes her directorial debut will help inspire a whole new generation of young writers.

Tasha Saxby, of Bell Street, Sawbridgeworth, penned Into The Limelight in just three months, juggling scriptwriting duties with studying for her GCSEs.

The daughter of Harlow Theatre Company stalwart Tony Saxby, showbusiness is in her blood – and she told the Star she was proud to be presenting her first play at the venue where she first discovered her love of theatre.

"Victoria Hall is a fantastic place – everyone involved is so supportive and helpful, it's like one big family here," she said.

"My dad and I both joined Harlow Theatre Company at the same time eight years ago, and since then I've appeared regularly on stage, so it's always been a dream of mine to be able to put on my own show here."

Billed as a 'modern musical', the Fame-inspired drama follows the lives and loves of four ambitious young performers as they progress through their first year at a professional drama school.

But faced with gruelling work schedules and bitter tutors, the friends soon realise that following their dreams isn't going to be as easy as they'd hoped – and the pressure-cooker atmosphere threatens to boil over when love and heartbreak are thrown into the mix.

"I've taken inspiration from musical dramas like Fame and Glee but tried to put my own stamp on the story," Tasha explained.

"There are quite a few sub-plots running throughout the play and it tackles a lot of the issues faced by teenagers everywhere, so hopefully it will appeal to quite a broad audience."

She added: "A lot of the stuff I've been involved with up to now has been aimed squarely at children, so I wanted to turn the tables a bit and show that us youngsters have the drive and ability to put on challenging shows of our own."

"Not only have we got a young cast, but the person doing the lighting is 18 and I've got a 12-year-old sound engineer!"

"I just hope that audiences will enjoy the show as much as I've enjoyed putting it together – and if I can help inspire other young writers to get creative then that would be an added bonus."

Into The Limelight opens its two-night run at Victoria Hall Theatre on Bury Road, Old Harlow tomorrow (Friday) evening. Performances start at 7.30pm and tickets cost £8 (£6 concessions) from (01279)

Misadventure, family pride and ancient quarrels bury the most hopeful of love stories as the young couple are driven apart and find their world fast becoming a constricting mausoleum of fate and death. Award-winning production company Icarus Theatre Collective's dynamic new adaptation of Shakespeare's timeless tragedy runs for three nights from tonight (Thursday). Curtain up is at 7.30pm and tickets cost £13.50-£16.50 (£11.50-£14.50 concessions).

Author's imagination makes Ruby sparkle

RUBY SPARKS certificate 15

ART imitates life imitates art in this delightfully offbeat romantic comedy which ponders if the man or woman of your dreams is exactly that: a fantastical creation.

Directed by husband and wife Jonathan Dayton and Valerie Faris, who collected a mantelpiece of awards for Little Miss Sunshine, Ruby Sparks stars real-life couple Paul Dano and Zoe Kazan as lovebirds magically brought together by unseen forces.

They catalyse smouldering screen chemistry, surrounded by a strong ensemble cast including Antonio Banderas and Annette Bening as hippie parents, whose carefree attitude to life and love provides a template of perfection that other characters struggle to emulate.

Calvin Weir-Fields (Dano) wrote his first novel at the age of 19. It was embraced by critics as a modern masterpiece and he has coasted along on the adulation, unable to find the words for a follow-up or a girl who loves him, not his celebrity.

During a regular visit to psychiatrist Dr Rosenthal (Elliott Gould), Calvin confides that a beautiful girl is haunting his dreams and the shrink suggests it may be therapeutic to commit these nocturnal imaginings to paper. So to cure his writer's block, Calvin follows the doc's guidance and churns out volumes about the mystery girl.

Miraculously, Ruby (Kazan) manifests in Calvin's apartment.

"The situation is crazy, I am not," Calvin assures his incredulous brother, Harry (Chris Messina), demonstrating his control over Ruby by making her speak fluent French simply by adding a relevant sentence to his manuscript.

"For men everywhere, tell me you're not gonna let that go to waste," grins Harry, sensing the possibilities for moulding Ruby into the perfect, subservient partner.

She is blissfully unaware that she was once a figment of Calvin's feverish imagination, and as romantic bonds strengthen between the couple, Harry's initial enthusiasm mellows into fraternal concern.

Written by Kazan, Ruby Sparks conjures fond memories of Stranger Than Fiction as Calvin ponders the morality of bedding his literary creation.

The script ventures into darker territory when Calvin grows weary of his soulmate and spitefully puts her through the physical and emotional wringer using his typewriter. Thankfully, the film pulls back from the abyss at the last moment so we retain our sympathy and affection for the beleaguered hero.

Dano is endearing as the introverted scribe crippled by success and Kazan is luminous, staring wide-eyed into the camera with an irresistible twinkle in her eye.

Towards the end, Ruby speaks for us all when she smiles at Calvin and coos: "Just don't tell me how it ends, OK?" OK, we won't.

HOTEL TRANSYLVANIA certificate U

GENNDY Tartakovsky directs this family-friendly computer-animated comedy which brings an inquisitive mortal into a world of ghouls and goblins.

Hotel Transylvania is a five-star resort run by Dracula (voiced by Adam Sandler) which is situated far from the eyes of pesky humans.

Monsters flock to the hotel for their holidays and Dracula invites some of his favourite guests to celebrate the 118th birthday of his daughter, Mavis (Selena Gomez).

Among the attendees are Frankenstein's monster (Kevin James) and his wife Eunice (Fran Drescher), Griffin The Invisible Man (David Spade), Wayne Werewolf (Steve Buscemi) and his wife Wanda (Molly Shannon) and Murray The Mummy (Cee Lo Green).

A wayward tourist called Jonathan (Adam Sandler) stumbles upon the hotel and Dracula has to hide the human interloper from his guests.

Once Jonathan's true lineage is revealed, he helps to dispel myths about humans and establishes deep bonds of friendship with his fanged, blood-sucking hosts.

>>still on screen

LOOPER Joe (Joseph Gordon-Levitt) is an assassin, or looper, whose purpose is to shoot hooded targets who have been sent back in time by his mob bosses, represented in 2044 by the sadistic Abe (Jeff Daniels). Like his fellow loopers, Joe knows his life expectancy is finite and one day he will have to gun down his future self. So when that time comes and Joe hesitates from his duty, allowing 'future' Joe (Bruce Willis) to escape, the race between hunter and hunted begins in earnest. Eventually, both Joes gravitate towards a remote farmhouse where fiercely protective mother Sara (Emily Blunt) is raising her son Cid (Pierce Gagnon) far from prying eyes.

THE SWEENEY DI Jack Regan (Ray Winstone) and sidekick George Carter (Ben Drew) are on the trail of a gang of wily European thieves led by slippery Francis Allen (Paul Anderson). After apprehending Allen, the team cannot find sufficient evidence to charge him and are forced to let him go after hours of intense questioning. Tensions within the department explode when internal affairs officer Ivan Lewis (Steve Mackintosh) embarks on a personal crusade to bring down Regan, who just happens to be bedding Lewis's wife Nancy (Hayley Atwell).

PARANORMAN (3D & 2D) When a small town comes under siege by zombies, who are you going to call? Well if you've got any sense it will be misunderstood local boy Norman (voiced by Kodi Smit-McPhee), who speaks with the dead and is told by deranged uncle Prenderghast (John Goodman) he is the only person who can save the town from a centuries-old witch's curse.

SINISTER Novelist Ellison Oswalt (Ethan Hawke) moves to a leafy community with his wife Tracy (Juliet Rylance) and children Trevor (Michael Hall D'Addario) and Ashley (Clare Foley). Ellison neglects to mention that the previous owners of the house came to an unfortunate end, and the sole survivor - a little girl - disappeared without trace. Ellison intends to use this history as the basis for a new book. In the process, Tracy and the children are targeted by dark forces and Ellison races against time to save the people he loves from the same ghoulish fate as the previous owners.

THE PERKS OF BEING A WALLFLOWER Charlie (Logan Lerman) is devastated by the suicide of his good friend Michael. The lad's father (Dylan McDermott) and mother (Kate Walsh) hope Charlie will blossom in higher education but, as usual, their boy remains on the sidelines. During an American football match, Charlie plucks up the courage to chat to openly gay classmate Patrick (Ezra Miller). In turn, he introduces Charlie to his free-spirited step-sister, Sam (Emma Watson), who tries to bring the shy newcomer out of his shell.

TAKEN 2 Bryan (Liam Neeson) continues to be protective of his daughter Kim (Maggie Grace), who he rescued from Albanian kidnappers and returned home safely to her mother Lenore (Famke Janssen). He's less than thrilled to discover Kim has a boyfriend (Luke Grimes) but promises Lenore that he won't run a background check. When Lenore's current partner storms out, Bryan suggests that his ex-wife and daughter join him in Turkey for a few days. Little does the former agent realise that Murad (Rade Serbedzija), the father of one of the Albanian brutes he killed in the first film, has amassed a small army to abduct and torture Bryan and his loved ones.

Pick a Letter

There are many styles of estate agency operating in the Harlow area, and picking the right one to sell your property can be daunting.

Over this series of articles we have made reference to a number of issues to consider so that you can make an informed choice when the time comes for you to sell.

Different agencies provide different services, yet some people are not aware of the indirect benefit that apparently unrelated services can offer. For example, choosing a selling agent who also does lettings could be the make or break of your sale! There are several reasons for this:

Firstly, as sales and lettings agents, we have long-term buy-to-let property investors permanently on our books who buy through us regularly. They know us, and they make quick decisions and reliable offers. They prefer to buy through an agency that does lettings because it is easy for them to let out their new investment, as we are often able to find a tenant who can move in immediately the property sale has completed.

Secondly, many of our tenants subsequently go on to buy a property. As we build a relationship with our tenants we are therefore in prime position to be able to help them buy one of our own clients' properties.

Thirdly, there are times when a vendor decides not to sell, but to rent, or even pursue both routes simultaneously, in which case we are of course well positioned to handle both. Likewise, it is often the case that a prospective tenant decides to buy instead of renting, again adding to our stock of pre-qualified buyers.

So when the time comes to sell, pick a letter! It will improve your chances and probably your price!

Audi's subtle evolution

By Iain Dooley

YES, you are looking at the new Audi A3. And, no, your eyes aren't deceiving you. It does look an awful lot like the last one.

Frankly, given the A3's track record, it's hardly surprising that Audi's designers resisted the urge to radically alter a winning formula. The important changes have all happened under the skin.

Unless you've been living under a rock for the past two decades you should be familiar with Audi's steady rise to prominence as a maker of premium cars, large and small. Most observers credit the original A3 hatchback with kick-starting this trend.

The demand from buyers for an upmarket compact hatch continued with the sharper-suited second-gen car, as did the emergence of a more credible opposition. And with no sign of a dip in the sector's popularity, here we are with an all-new car.

With a car this popular the last thing you want to do is produce something radical that scares away the buyers, which explains why this A3 looks a lot like the last one. Look closely, though, and there's been a subtle but noticeable evolution of the car's appearance, especially at the front, to compliment the changes to Audi's

Fact File

Audi A3 2.0
TDI SE TSI

PRICE
from £21,505

ENGINE: 2.0-litre diesel unit developing 150bhp
TRANSMISSION: 6-speed manual driving the front wheels
PERFORMANCE: Top speed 134mph, 0-62mph in 8.6 secs
ECONOMY: 68.9mpg
CO<sub>2</sub> RATING: 106g/km larger cars and maintain the all-important family resemblance.

What can't be seen from the outside, however, are the changes Audi has made to how the car is constructed. Boasting significant weight savings and improvements to safety and refinement, it's a big deal. The end result for the consumer should be better fuel economy, enhanced cabin refinement and a more rewarding driving experience.

With more competition in the marketplace from the likes of BMW, Mercedes and Volvo, Audi has had to work much harder to create a compelling package. As such, this A3 continues the current trend for low CO<sub>2</sub> and fuel-consuming engines, be they petrol or diesel. This, along with an ever expanding list of equipment hoped will keep the A3 competitive.

Of course the four rings on the car's grille should help draw in the crowds. But, with the A3 a favourite among company car drivers, the issue of running costs is never far away.

With Audi's 2.0-litre diesel motor expected to be a popular choice, it's good to know that its CO<sub>2</sub> rating is a miserly 106g/km. The fuel consumption is an equally stingy 68.9mpg, yet the whole package feels surprisingly sprightly as the car's claimed 8.6s zero to 62mph sprint time illustrates.

The standard fit six-speed manual gearbox goes some way to eeking out the fuel, as does the engine's quick to react stop-start function.

On the road the 2.0-litre TDI car easily combines the ability to shrug off most urban road imperfections while ensuring pitch and roll is kept to a minimum when you're pushing on. That's not an easy feat these days when large wheels and rubber band-thickness tyres are the norm.

That said, if you do want to spice things up, Audi's made the choice of SE, Sport and S Line variant a little more flexible. For instance, you can mix one trim level with a regular, Sport or S Line suspension setting.

Naturally, kit levels also vary depending on the core trim selected which means plush sports seats, larger alloy wheels and a host of detailed cosmetic and equipment enhancements the further up the pricing ladder you go.

And if you're a gadget freak you won't be lacking in distractions, what with the different navigation and audio options to supplement the standard offering.

Frankly, what with Audi's current popularity ratings hitting the roof, the chances are that if you were in the market for a compact, premium hatchback you'd be sold on the A3 from the moment you saw it.

A little too predictable? Perhaps, but it's this level of consistency in the car's design and operation that's ensured a strong following in recent years.

There have been niggles in the past centering on ride comfort and the driving experience, but the engineers of this third-gen car have done well to banish such wrinkles from this A3.

As such, you've got a car that's responsive, refined, frugal and comfortable in a variety of road conditions.

Factor in the considerable weight of the brand behind the car, and the total package makes a compelling and attractive argument.

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

To hell and Becc

After awful start Rams show sign of improvement

THE Rams' record might not sit nicely on the eye but there is certainly some improvement in the performances of Lee Harron's side.

Harlow were desperately unlucky on Saturday, fighting back from 21-7 down to level before conceding a try just four minutes from time.

The Essex side went in front after just three minutes when Dan Smith made a superb break down the right touchline before the ball was spun along the backs for Rhys Powell to score. Smith added the conversion.

Beccles responded immediately and a good break by their winger put fly-half Vasey-Lark in who converted his own try.

Wade scored a fine individual try which he converted to put the Suffolk side 14-7 ahead.

In a further blow, the Rams lost Danny Bolt on 21 minutes to an ankle injury. He was replaced by Danny Stonehouse.

This weakened the line-out throws, evident when Harlow could not find their jumper and were denied a promising scoring opportunity.

Beccles made it 21-7 with a third converted try from Frost.

Harlow were denied a try early on in the second half.

The visitors' pressure eventually told on the hour when Chris Webb made a fine break to find Kane Claridge in support and the latter scored a well-deserved try near the posts. Smith added the extras which left Harlow just a converted try away from leveling the match.

A good advantage from the referee allowed Harlow to carry on with a move which ended with Powell darting over for his second try, which was duly converted by Smith with nine minutes left.

Smith then missed a difficult 50metre kick.

There only appeared to be one winner at this time as Harlow had all the momentum.

However, another line out inside the 22m was wasted when Harlow could not find skipper Shaun Roberts at the back of the line.

With only four minutes to go Harlow failed to secure the ball from their own scrum. Beccles took advantage and their prop went over in the corner for an unconverted try.

SPORT IN BRIEF

HOCKEY: Harlow remain a point off the drop zone after promotion-chasing Wapping IV hit them for six on Saturday.

Wapping dominated the first half and, apart from a couple of quick break away moves by Craig Cholerton and Ben Light, the visitors were pinned back and were 4-0 down at the break.

A downhearted Harlow performed better in the second half and pulled a goal back through a smart finish at the back post by Stuart Kirk but two more goals for the hosts made it 6-1 and the heaviest defeat suffered by Harlow in more than two seasons.

Captain James Smith said: "I am not sure how to explain what happened. Looking at their previous results it's almost like they had a completely different side out today."

"That being said we can learn from their style of play their movement off the ball meant that they always had a spare player to pass to."

CALIFORNIA DREAM TURNED TO REALITY FOR FORMER HARLOW TOWN ACE

By David Rimmer

CHERISHED memories of playing for San Diego in California as well as at Harlow Town's old Sportcentre ground sit fondly in the recollections of midfielder Andy Walker.

The hair has thinned slightly, but the 49-year-old is as courteous and alert now as when I first met him in 1997.

Walker's non-League career spanned from 1982 to 1999. He had three spells with the Hawks.

He played for other clubs including Stevenage, back in the Ryman division one, as the Hertfordshire club started its journey towards the Football League.

His three-and-a-half year spell at the San Diego University team in America (July 1983-January 1987) was most rewarding when he thinks of his football career.

The midfielder was spotted playing for Essex U-19s and won a scholarship to study for a business degree in California, which he could combine with his blossoming football career.

While in America he came up against the likes of Manchester City and England keeper Joe Corrigan and City winger Steve Daley, once the most expensive player in football when signed from Wolves for £1.5m.

This was a time when football in the US was still booming.

Walker, who now lives in Sawbridgeworth and works in Essex for the Royal Bank of Scotland, recalled: "Fred and Jeff Saxton were at Grays [Athletic FC] and they knew a guy from America who wanted three youngsters [on a scholarship]."

"I was thinking of going to Newcastle Polytechnic to do a history and PE degree, but this chance came up. I was on my own and it made me more independent," he explained.

"Some of the American universities you played were very good. It was an eye opener. You cannot quantify it. It was very valuable. In one year we had 13 nationalities involved in the squad!"

Looking back, Walker has contrasting emotions about his three main spells at Harlow.

An early memory for Walker was when he first played at Rhodes Avenue for Harlow against Bishop's Stortford in an FA Cup replay in 1982-83. Stortford won 4-0.

He said: "There was a huge crowd of 2,000 and it was my first ever game at Rhodes Avenue."

"There was a real atmosphere. The crowd was really close to the pitch and that was something you could not get at the Sportcentre."

In his first spell at Harlow, encompassing the 1981-82 and 1982-83 seasons, Walker made his debut at the age of 18 under then manager Gwyn Walters.

Walker said: "There were financial constraints and there was a good youth system at Harlow."

"Gwyn gave youngsters like me and Marc Das the opportunity to get into senior football. There were a lot of Harlow lads playing in that side."

He added: "In those days the game was a lot more physical than it is now."

From a kid in America to a Hawks legend

When he came back to England from the USA in January 1987, Walker had a spell at Grays Athletic, then in Isthmian division one.

He did have a trial with Wimbledon a year before they won the FA Cup at Wembley, but he was not fully fit and things did not work out there.

Walker then played at Boreham Wood and Harlow Town, where he won promotion under Dave Edwards in 1988-89 into Ryman division one.

His second and third spells at Harlow under Edwards and Eddie McCluskey were also successful.

Walker said: "I was a wide player in Dave's team but I had a few injuries. We were a more close knit under Dave. There was more of a bond."

"Dave was working under financial constraints and was successful."

"Under Eddie it was different. I was older then and only completed six out of 40 games I started."

"Jeff Bothwell [then Harlow Town chairman] gave Eddie a lot of support. We could bring in good players and had a very strong side."

He then had one year at Stevenage Borough (1991-92) when the club were managed by former Harlow Town player Paul Fairclough.

Fairclough's team stormed through the divisions, eventually winning the Conference title.

Walker, who played on the right side of midfield during this spell, said: "Paul Fairclough was an interesting character. He got the best squad for the division he was in and he wanted a physical type of player."

"I got 18 goals and was the second or third top scorer."

Stortford then beckoned for a more fulfilling time. Brought to the club by then manager, ex-Arsenal legend John Radford, Walker was switched to a central midfield role for most of his time at Blues.

Walker said: "We won the league [Isthmian division one] in 1993-94. That was the most complete side. I enjoyed it more at Stortford than at Stevenage."

After Radford quit as first team boss in the mid-1990s, he was replaced by Edwards, who had managed Walker at Harlow.

Walker said: "John had played at the highest level and he could pass on things, particularly at an attacking level. He would not boost you up, but if you were on the team sheet you were good enough in his eyes."

"He was very competitive and if he was losing at five a side in training he would keep you there until 10 o'clock at night. He was more interested in the training, while Dave Edwards was a wheeler dealer."

"Dave had a good track record. He had also won the FA Vase with Stansted and he had managed me at Harlow. He was always good to me, even when I did not deserve it."

Walker left Stortford a few months after Paul Taylor came in as boss October 1997 when Edwards was sacked.

After leaving Stortford, Walker went back to Harlow for 15 months before retiring at the end of the 1998-99 season.

Walker said: "Eddie McCluskey [then Harlow manager] was good and I got two promotions with them."

Subsequently he took over briefly as a caretaker boss for a short spell after McCluskey was sacked in December 1999, but had no plans to go into management full time.

Walker said: "I had a young family and wanted to concentrate on that and I also wanted to put something back through youth football."

He has recently become involved with Sawbridgeworth Town FC and manages their U-18 side which includes his younger son Alex, like his father a midfielder, who has now broken into the first team at the Essex Senior League club.

'Harlow can be home to next GB Olympian'

ANDREW Osagie is confident wannabe athletes from the town can follow in his footsteps and turn a dream into reality by competing at the Olympic Games.

It has been a phenomenal year for the Harlow Athletic Club member, which started with a bronze medal at the World Indoor Championships in Turkey before culminating in his personal best time in the 800metre final at London 2012.

The former Burnt Mill School student completed a lifetime dream when he raced in what has been described as the greatest Olympics 800m final ever at Stratford's magnificent stadium in front of 80,000 noisy country men, women and children.

And the 24-year-old has put his support behind the top-quality sports venues available in Harlow, which can enable young people to not only take up athletics and running but also other sports.

He said: "With the range of sports and leisure facilities that are in Harlow today there are plenty of opportunities to follow in my footsteps and maybe take part in the Olympics one day."

Osagie has gone from an unknown to being a recognised sportsman in Britain.

His time of 1 minute 43.6 seconds in the Olympics final shaved nearly a second off his previous best.

He would have won a gold medal at the last three Olympics with that time.

Osagie has made incredible progress since first representing Great Britain just a couple of short years ago.

He blew away the rest of the field when he qualified for the Great Britain Olympics team in the summer - when he proudly wore his Harlow Athletic Club vest - and will be targeting a medal at the Commonwealth Games in Glasgow in two years' time.

But Osagie, whose family still live in Northbrooks next to the town centre, has never forgotten his roots and is a regular visitor back to the town - while regularly popping into his favourite restaurant Nando's.

He said: "I just try to get across to people that it doesn't matter what you have or where you're from, that if you want something you can get it.

"My family home in Northbrooks, my grandparents' home near Harlow College - and of course Nando's across the road in the Water Gardens!"

For Osagie, Harlow Athletic Club will always have a special place in his heart - from its old base at the Sportcentre where he started, to its plush new base at Mark Hall.

"To this day I never even thought about signing for another athletics club. This is so important to me that I remember where I came from before thinking about where I want to go."

Osagie went to Hare Street Primary & Junior School before attending Burnt Mill. He studied for his A-levels at Leventhorpe in Sawbridgeworth.

He added: "Growing up in Harlow I guess was just an ordinary life for me, nothing too special and my family never had too much. I was brought up to value respect as much as money."

Osagie is now in the middle of a well-earned break before the tough training begins for the start of the indoor athletics season in January.

ONWARDS AND UPWARDS: Tyler Wink has become a professional golfer (HSP0862813)

Golfer Wink eyes a spot at the Open

QUALIFYING for the Open is the target for new golf professional Tyler Wink.

Wink (19), from Harlow, who turned pro at the beginning of this month, is the assistant to Mark Smith, who runs the pro shop at Canons Brook Golf Club.

Smith has coached Wink for the last 12 years, since the youngster was seven. He believes he will prosper on the PGA circuit.

Smith said: "He hits it miles off the tee and he has a better understanding of his short game."

"He needs to improve his putting and will compete in the East PGA tournaments in the winter and next year and is capable of earning money in tournaments."

He added: "He is also aiming to qualify for the Open. He is not a touring professional and his role includes coaching. He is a good teacher."

Wink, of The Readings, has been assisting Smith since March and this followed a two-year spell at The Sports Academy, based at Five Lakes Golf Club near Maldon.

It was while he was based there that he studied a sports A-level.

Smith added: "Tyler will also be doing a diploma foundation three-year degree PGA course."

Wink has won a few Essex Junior Opens and has represented the county from the U-14 age group right through to U-18.

Harry pots England spot at tournament

A YOUNG snooker player from Harlow is planning to pocket more international level - after making his U-16 England international debut.

Fifteen-year-old Stewards School student Harry Green won three of his five matches when he played for the England team in a home international.

The event at Prestatyn in North Wales saw seven teams from England, Wales, Northern Ireland and Scotland compete. The competition was won by England A.

Green played for England B, who came fourth.

England B won three out of five games and their most comprehensive win was when they beat Scotland 10-2.

His mother Debbie said: "We were so proud when he was selected and Harry did very well."

"He enjoyed it. He was seeded fourth and his two defeats came when he was playing as the third seed."

U's boss not over-confident as Harlow pull out a plum draw

COLCHESTER United's new manager, Joe Dunne, will not take Harlow Town lightly after his side were drawn against the Barrows Farm men in the Essex Senior Cup for the second season in succession.

The third-round draw was made last Thursday at the League One club's new Florence Park training facility.

It means a plum trip for Harlow fans to the magnificent new stadium, just off the A12, and a cure for the autumn blues after some disappointing performances of late.

The former Republic of Ireland Under-21 international, who played 164 times for the U's before taking on a coaching role, replaced the sacked John Ward as boss last month.

Colchester beat Harlow at the quarter-final stage last January, but Danny Chapman's side took the lead and gave the mid-Essex club a real scare.

Dunne said of Harlow: "It's actually a club I'm very familiar with because I remember when I was at Dover [Athletic], I played against Harlow in the FA Trophy. Harlow Town are a good club. Last year proved that - the travelling support was excellent, the noise and atmosphere was good and we were fortunate to get two goals after going 1-0 down. "It's a competition we want to win," he said. "I think we've shown that in the last few years with the teams that we've picked - we've always gone out to win every game, and we'll do that again this year.

TOUGH DRAW: Colchester United boss Joe Dunne will not under-estimate Harlow Town after the sides were drawn together in the Essex Senior Cup third round

"We have restructured our club with under 21s and development players and we believe that these are ideal games to see how they can progress. But we'll certainly be taking it seriously."

Dunne looked through the draw and pointed out how the current strength of local football means numerous sides could lift the silverware. He said: "You go through the list of teams and Essex county is thriving. If you're not on your game at any moment, an upset can happen. We'll be at our main stadium, which is good for us with the dimensions of the pitch and how we want to play, and I'm pretty sure Harlow will make it a fantastic atmosphere."

The tie is due to take place about October 30.

Jokers have last laugh to end run

BASKETBALL: Close neighbours Ware Jokers proved just a little bit too good for Harlow Hawks as Shab Niaz's men suffered a narrow 50-60 defeat in their latest group game in the Herts County Cup.

Hawks started the better of the two teams with Shab Niaz hitting an early three-pointer and putting nine points on the board in the first four minutes of action.

However, the visitors stormed back and led 17-9 at the end of the first period.

The referees let a lot of fouls go and this played in the hands of the more physically powerful Jokers.

Ware continued to do their damage on the inside and increased their lead heading into the half-time break to 30-18 as Harlow paid for some poor offensive play.

The Hawks rallied at the start of the second half, as they tried to raise the tempo and had success running the floor through Lee Jones and Russ Allan. Rimantas Norkeliunas proved to be a handful for the Jokers as they struggled to box him out. The faster tempo suited the Hawks and Nick Moss and Russ Stonehouse added eight points between them in the last three minutes to cut the deficit to 46-37.

Hawks again struggled at the start of the last quarter. Dave Spashett and Shab Niaz hit some big shots down the stretch to cut the visitors' lead to just six points with a little over a minute remaining, but some missed opportunities meant the Hawks came up a little short with Jokers claiming a 60-50 victory.

If the Hawks can beat Hertfordshire Warriors in their remaining group game they will still progress to the knock-out stages.

The Hawks' next game is tomorrow at home to the Luton Fliers, last year's league winners.

HARLOW HAWKS: Moss (10pts), Norkeliunas (10pts), S. Niaz (6pts), Jones (6pts), Stonehouse (6pts), Allan (5pts), Spashett (5pts), Z. Niaz (2pts), Lenihan, Burgess.

Striker could return for third spell

HAWKS boss Danny Chapman hopes striker Jamie Richards will re-sign for a third spell at Harlow Town and lift flagging spirits.

The Barrows Farm men slipped into the bottom three after Tuesday's 6-3 bashing at home to Soham Town Rangers.

Chapman hopes to bring in Richards, pictured inset, from Grays, while he hopes to nick centre-half Bradley Fraser who only signed for Ware last week but impressed in their 3-1 reverse against Romford.

But the visitors fought back again and levelled through Matt Robinson on 35 minutes.

Harlow took the lead for a third time on 64 minutes when Wixon fired in his second of the game.

But Soham just wouldn't lie down and Michael Simpson made it 3-3 on 70 minutes, before Robinson netted his second five minutes later to put the Cambridgeshire side ahead for the first time on the night.

Robbie Mason made it 5-3 on 85 minutes and then to add salt into Harlow's wounds the same player added his second and Soham's sixth three minutes into injury-time.

Chapman was set to sign a central defender on loan from Stevenage, but he was injured playing last weekend.

Harlow were without a game then as their away league match at Redbridge was called off 'bec-
